

Basic Strip
Ron Rezek

RON REZEK

California born and based, Ron Rezek's early career included designing the first modern lifeguarding equipment. A student of Charles Eames he is best known for approaching the category as a design object and thereby creating the contemporary ceiling fan market.

VERSATILITY

Other than its availability in aluminum/chrome or white finishes and ADA compliance, the core of Basic Strip's versatility lies in its adaptability to any interior, as it is well suited for bathroom mirror application, corridors, or any residential or commercial spaces.

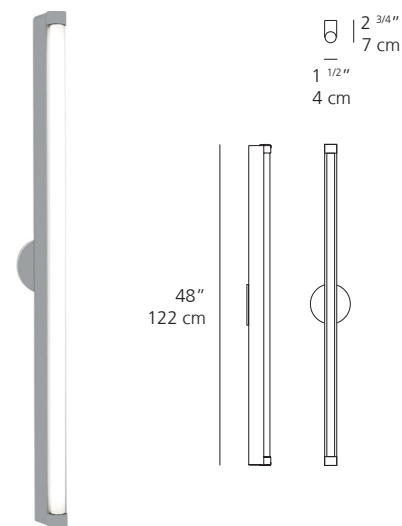

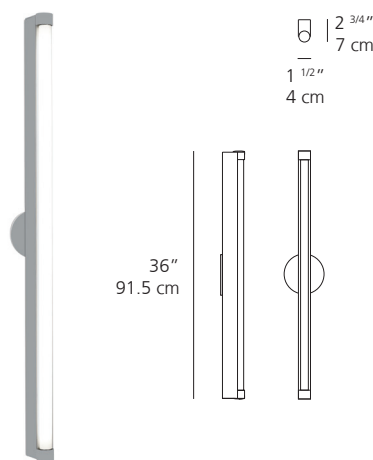

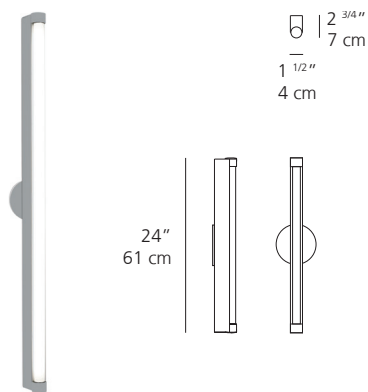

SIMPLICITY

Defined by its name, Basic Strip is a simple design that showcases its functional features. The light fixture's body is crafted in aluminum extrusion with natural anodized or matte white powder coated finish.
